South High School’s March Teacher of the Month is Jessica Harris. Mrs. Harris has been teaching art at South High for the past 23 years. She says that when she was a student at South High, she had an amazing art teacher, Mr. Bill Hottman, and as a senior student, she was given the opportunity to teach a lesson to a younger Art 1 class, which hooked her immediately. Her favorite part of teaching is seeing all of the different ways her talented students visually solve problems. She loves that she can give them each the same set of instructions, yet they develop such unique and inventive ways to approach their projects; high school students are so creative and fun to work with. Her advice to parents and the community is to stay involved with our young people. Parenting is one of the most difficult jobs, but making the commitment to our students’ development now will only pay dividends in the future. Congratulations!
